EBSCO HOST Electronic Journals Service

Login   OpenAthens Login   Need help?

Customer Code: [   ]   Username: [   ]   Password: [   ]   Login

EBSCO*host* Electronic Journals Service (EJS) is your gateway to thousands of e-journals containing millions of articles from hundreds of different publishers, all at one web site. To learn more about how EJS can help you, choose one of the tabs below:

Quick Links:
▶ Complete List of Journals on EJS
▶ Read our Privacy Policy
▶ Terms and Conditions

Student   Researcher   Faculty   Librarian

For students, EJS can help you quickly find the articles you need to get your research papers and other assignments done in record time. EJS puts your library's e-journals acquired through EBSCO in a single place on the Web, so you don't have to jump to different Web sites to find the articles you need. With EJS, you can:

- Find a specific journal quickly by using the Find Journals feature.
- Browse through a list of all journals available with the Browse feature.
- Browse a list of subject categories, and then view a list of all journals that fall in a category of interest. This allows you to easily find journals that cover specific topics.
- Find specific articles quickly using the Find Articles feature. Search by article title or by the author's name.
- Find articles that cover a specific topic by searching for keywords in the titles, abstracts, and even full text of millions of articles.
- Read article abstracts and link directly to full text of the articles you find.

NOTE: Availability of specific features depends on the specific configuration of your institution's EJS account. Please consult your institution's librarian for feature availability questions. Librarians may contact their EBSCO regional office for more information.